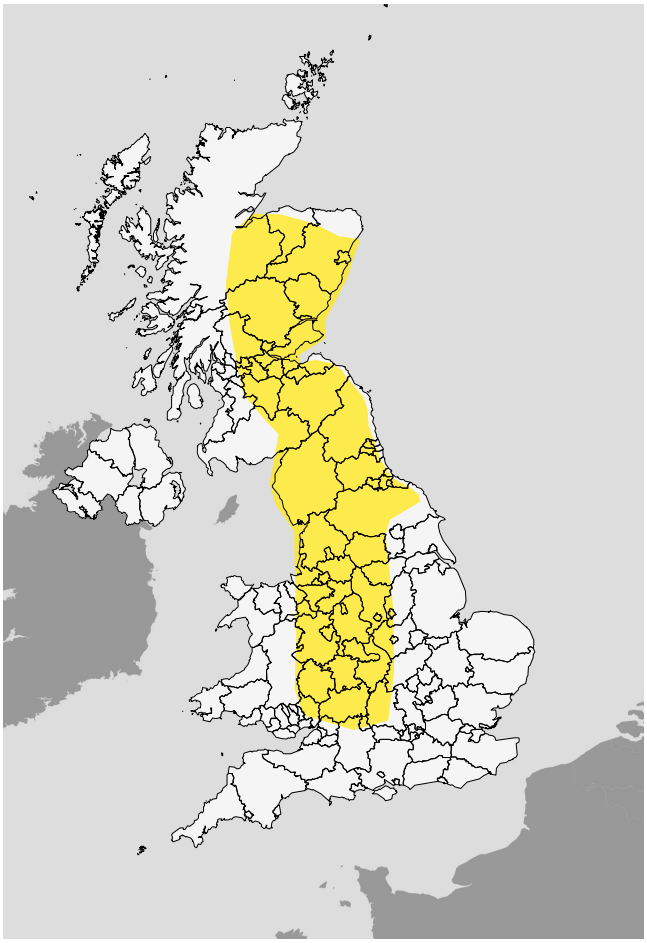
Yellow warning
Snow

Between
18:00 Wed 30 Dec 2020 and
14:00 Thu 31 Dec 2020



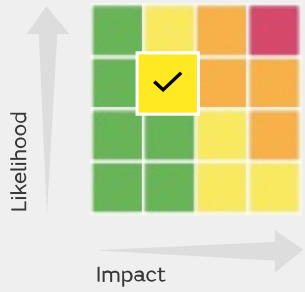
Snow arriving from the north later Wednesday, moving south through Thursday morning may lead to some travel disruption.

What to expect

- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- Some higher routes across Scotland and northwest England may briefly become impassable early Thursday morning.

Further details

Showers are likely to merge into an area of rain, sleet and snow which is expected to move south across parts of eastern Scotland, northern and western England, and perhaps the far east of Wales overnight Wednesday, and through Thursday morning. Not all locations within this area will see snow, and indeed where it does snow it will not be snowing through the entire warning period. Accumulations of 1-3 cm are most likely, with larger accumulations (most likely 5-10 cm) confined to ground above 200 metres. Snow at low levels will quickly turn to rain across Scotland during early Thursday, becoming confined to ground above 500 metres.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
